THE BEAUTIFUL GAME / LE BEAU SPORT

Association football (soccer) is the largest participation sport in Canada and around the world. The sport provides healthy, physical activity for players at all levels of ability.

At the most basic level of participation, soccer promotes the integrated development and maintenance of the cardiovascular, musculoskeletal and neuromuscular systems. It helps in preventing many conditions and diseases (including heart disease, obesity, and osteoporosis) and enhances the well-being of individuals across the nation.

At the high-performance level, soccer is a vehicle for elite-athlete achievement. Hailed around the world as "The Beautiful Game", international soccer is played with finesse and with skills that are difficult to master. Through Canada's long-term player development model, players progress through sequential stages of development to become "world class" athletes.

The Fédération Internationale de Football Association (FIFA) is the international governing body of soccer. Founded in 1904, FIFA has 208 member associations. FIFA is responsible for the organization and governance of football's major international tournaments, most notably the FIFA World Cup™ which was first introduced in 1930.

In Canada, the sport is governed by The Canadian Soccer Association, which was established in 1912. The Canadian Soccer Association has 12 member associations (Canada's 10 provinces and two territories) and one associate member (Nunavut).

En environnement de haute performance, le soccer est un véhicule d'atteinte de l'excellence pour les athlètes élités. Acclamé partout dans le monde comme « le beau jeu », le soccer international est joué avec finesse et habiletés difficiles à maîtriser. Par le modèle de développement à long terme du joueur du Canada, les joueurs cheminent à travers les stades séquentiels de développement afin de devenir des athlètes de calibre international.

La Fédération Internationale de Football Association (FIFA) est l'organisme international qui chapeaute le football. Fondée en 1904, la FIFA compte dans ses rangs un total de 208 associations membres. La FIFA est responsable de l'organisation et de la gouvernance des principaux tournois internationaux de football, notamment la Coupe du Monde de la FIFA™ qui fut tenue pour la première fois en 1930.

Au Canada, le sport est gouverné par l'Association canadienne de soccer qui a été établie en 1912. L'Association canadienne de soccer compte douze associations membres (les dix provinces et deux territoires du Canada) et un membre associé (Nunavut).

THE CANADIAN SOCCER ASSOCIATION

The Canadian Soccer Association is the governing body for association football in Canada, the highest participation sport in the country. Tremendously popular in the early part of the 20th century, the sport has been on the upswing in the 21st century on the heels of a confederation title in 2000, the hosting of successful FIFA events for men's and women's football, and the re-emergence of professional clubs in the country.

Founded in 1912, the Dominion of Canada Football Association (as it was then known) became a member of FIFA on 31 December 1912. The Association naturally held strong ties to Great Britain and the British FAs because of Canada's standing as a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations at the time. Of note, the trophy for Canada's first national competition was donated by then Governor-General the Duke of Connaught (Prince Arthur of the British Royal family). In 1926, the Connaught Cup was replaced by the FA Trophy (donated by England) for the annual Challenge competition.

While there is evidence of a kind of organised 'soccer' played in Canada as early as the 1850s, the first match played under the banner of the established "London Association Rules" was contested in 1876 in Toronto between the Lacrosse Club and the Carlton Cricket Club. In the remaining years of the 19th century, there was a proliferation of loosely-organised football leagues – of predictably varying life spans – throughout the Canadian provinces. Ontario's Western Football Association, in particular, was one of the earliest football associations formed when it was inaugurated in 1880. The old WFA even sent a club to tour Great Britain in 1888. Then in 1904, the WFA's flagship Galt Football Club won the first Olympic Football Tournament in St. Louis.

Throughout the 20th century, the game continued to develop in Canada. The Association's national championship was played on an annual basis (with the exception of two interruptions because of the World Wars) while several touring teams were invited to play local clubs. Canada also sent touring teams abroad and, on 27 June 1925, hosted the first international match in Montréal (a 1:0 win for Canada over visiting USA).

In 1957, Canada entered the FIFA World Cup qualifying competition for the first time, winning two of four matches but failing to qualify for Sweden 1958. After missing the next two competitions, Canada rejoined the qualifying competition in 1968, which coincided with North America's renewed interest in the sport thanks to the 1966 FIFA World Cup in England (won by England) and the introduction of the North American Soccer League in USA and Canada.

After missing out on Spain 1982 by a single goal, Canada was CONCACAF champion in 1985 en route to its first participation in the FIFA World Cup (at Mexico 1986). Coached by Tony Waiters, the group not only boasted a world of NASL experience, but also a fifth-place finish at the Los Angeles 1984 Olympic Football Tournament.

From the Association's 75th anniversary celebrations in 1987, Canada then hosted three FIFA tournaments over a 21-year span: the second FIFA U-17 World Cup in 1987 (then known as the FIFA U-16 World Tournament), the first FIFA U-20 Women's World Cup in 2002 (the FIFA U-19 Women's World Championship), and the record-setting FIFA U-20 World Cup in 2007. It was in the year before the Association's 100th anniversary that Canada was awarded its next FIFA hosting opportunities, the FIFA U-20 Women's World Cup Canada 2014 and the FIFA Women's World Cup Canada 2015.

Inside the last two decades, the sport has elicited a renewed passion from Canadians from coast to coast. Crowned CONCACAF women's champions in 1998, Canada participated in its second FIFA Women's World Cup in 1999. Four years later at USA 2003, Canada finished fourth overall, with heroics led by tournament all-star Charmaine Hooper and 20-year old scoring sensation Christine Sinclair. The young Sinclair was already a national hero, having won Golden Ball and Golden Shoe honours in a silver-medal performance at the FIFA U-20 Women's World Cup Canada 2002. Already in the 21st century, Canada has won its second men's (2000) and women's (2010) CONCACAF championships, established an annual professional cup competition that plays in new and revived football stadiums, and has developed some promising new players that has drawn the interest of a rejuvenated football nation.

In 2012, the Canadian Soccer Association celebrated its 100th anniversary. The centrepiece to the celebration was a Centennial Match in June, at which point the Association unveiled Top-10 Moments as well as two All-Time Canada XI teams. Two months later, Canada capped off a memorable year by winning a bronze medal at the London 2012 Women's Olympic Football Tournament, the country's first medal in a summer Olympic team sport since 1936.

L'ASSOCIATION CANADIENNE DE SOCCER

L'Association canadienne de soccer est l'instance dirigeante du football association au Canada, le sport comptant le plus de participants au pays. Énormément populaire au début du 20e siècle, le sport est en pleine montée au 21e siècle grâce à la conquête du titre de la confédération en 2000, l'accueil d'événements à succès de la FIFA chez les hommes et chez les femmes et la réémergence de clubs professionnels au pays.

Fondée en 1912, l'Association de football du Dominion du Canada est devenue membre de la FIFA le 31 décembre 1912. L'Association maintenait des liens solides avec la Grande-Bretagne et les fédérations britanniques alors que le Canada était un membre du Commonwealth à l'époque. À noter que le trophée de la première compétition nationale du Canada a été remis par le gouverneur général de l'époque, le Duc de Connaught (Prince Arthur de la famille royale britannique). En 1926, la coupe Connaught a été remplacée par le trophée FA (donné par l'Angleterre) pour la compétition nationale annuelle.

Alors que le soccer organisé était pratiqué au Canada dès les années 1850, le premier match joué sous l'égide des « Règles de Londres » a été présenté en 1876 à Toronto entre le Lacrosse Club et le Carlton Cricket Club. Dans les dernières années du 19e siècle, les ligues de football vaguement organisées étaient nombreuses et leur durée de vie variait aussi partout au Canada. L'Association de football de l'Ouest de l'Ontario (WFA) en particulier a été l'une des premières associations de football à être formée en 1880. Cette WFA a même envoyé une équipe en tournée de Grande-Bretagne en 1888. Pas moins de 16 ans plus tard, le Galt FC, club phare de la WFA a remporté le premier Tournoi Olympique de Football.

Tout au long du 20e siècle, le sport a évolué au Canada. Le championnat national de l'Association a été disputé chaque année (à l'exception de deux interruptions en raison des Guerres mondiales) alors que plusieurs équipes en tournée ont été invitées à affronter des équipes locales. Le Canada a aussi envoyé des équipes en tournée à l'étranger et, le 27 juin 1925, un premier match international était disputé à Montréal (une victoire de 1-0 du Canada sur les États-Unis).

Autre première, en 1957 alors que le Canada a entamé la compétition de qualification pour la Coupe du Monde de la FIFA, mais a raté sa tentative pour la phase finale en Suède en 1958. Après avoir aussi raté les deux compétitions suivantes, le Canada a rejoint le tournoi de qualification en 1968, ce qui a coïncidé avec le renouvellement de l'intérêt de l'Amérique du Nord dans ce sport grâce à la Coupe du Monde de la FIFA 1966 en Angleterre (remporté par l'Angleterre) et la création de la Ligue nord-américaine de soccer (NASL) aux États-Unis et au Canada.

Après avoir échoué pour la Coupe du Monde de la FIFA Espagne 1982 par un seul but, le Canada a été champion de la CONCACAF en 1985 pour ensuite participer à sa première Coupe du Monde de la FIFA Mexique 1986. Dirigé par Tony Waiters, le groupe contenait non seulement de l'expérience en NASL, mais aussi une cinquième place au Tournoi Olympique de Football à Los Angeles en 1984.

À partir des célébrations du 75e anniversaire de l'Association en 1987, le Canada a ensuite accueilli trois tournois de la FIFA en l'espace de 21 ans : la deuxième édition de la Coupe du Monde U-17 de la FIFA en 1987, l'édition inaugurale de la Coupe du Monde Féminine U-20 de la FIFA en 2002 et la Coupe du Monde U-20 de la FIFA en 2007 où le Canada a établi un record du monde d'affluence pour cette compétition. Un an avant la célébration de son 100e anniversaire, l'Association a obtenu les droits d'organiser la Coupe du Monde Féminine U-20 de la FIFA Canada 2014 et la Coupe du Monde Féminine de la FIFA Canada 2015.

Lors des deux dernières décennies, le sport a suscité une passion renouvelée chez les Canadiens d'un océan à l'autre. Sacrée championne de la CONCACAF en 1998, l'équipe féminine du Canada a participé à sa deuxième Coupe du Monde Féminine de la FIFA États-Unis 1999 (Après Suède 1995). Quatre ans plus tard aux États-Unis en 2003, le Canada a terminé quatrième au total, mené héroïquement par la vedette du tournoi, Charmaine Hooper, et la buteuse sensationnelle de 20 ans, Christine Sinclair. La jeune Sinclair était déjà un héros national, ayant remporté le Ballon d'Or de la FIFA et le Soulier d'Or avec une médaille d'argent à la Coupe du Monde Féminine U-20 de la FIFA Canada 2002.

Déjà, au 21e siècle, le Canada a remporté ses deuxièmes championnats de la CONCACAF masculins (2000) et féminins (2010), trois championnats féminins juniors de la CONCACAF (deux chez les U-20 et un chez les U-17), a établi un tournoi annuel de coupe nationale pour ses clubs professionnels dans les nouveaux stades et a développé quelques joueurs prometteurs qui ont suscité l'intérêt renouvelé d'une nation de football.

L'Association canadienne de soccer a célébré son 100e anniversaire en 2012. L'événement central de ses célébrations fut le match du centenaire en juin dernier et c'est à cette occasion que l'Association a dévoilé les dix meilleurs moments de son histoire de football international ainsi que l'équipe d'étoiles (Canada XI) masculine et féminine de toute l'histoire. Deux mois plus tard, le Canada a terminé en beauté cette année mémorable en remportant la médaille de bronze au Tournoi de Football Olympique Féminin de Londres 2012. Ce fut la première médaille du Canada dans un sport d'équipe aux Jeux olympiques d'été depuis 1936.

The 2014 Amway Canadian Championship serves as the qualification competition for 2014-15 CONCACAF Champions League. In the preliminary round, the two NASL clubs (FC Edmonton and Ottawa Fury) will play each other to secure the fourth semi-final place alongside Canada's three MLS clubs: defending champion Impact Montréal, Toronto FC and Vancouver Whitecaps FC. The two semi-final winners will then contest a home and away series to determine the champion.

Le Championnat canadien Amway 2014 sert de tournoi de qualification pour la Ligue des Champions de la CONCACAF 2014-15. Lors de la ronde préliminaire, les deux clubs de la NASL (FC Edmonton et Ottawa Fury FC) s'affronteront afin de déterminer la quatrième place en demi-finale aux côtés des trois clubs de la MLS : le champion en titre Impact de Montréal, Toronto FC et Vancouver Whitecaps FC. Les deux gagnants des demi-finales s'affronteront à l'occasion d'une série aller-retour qui déterminera le champion.

The Connaught Cup playdowns unfolded usually until a "Western" winner faced an "Eastern" winner in the national final. The competition was suspended from 1916-18 (during the Great War). In 1920, Hamilton received a bye into the final while Winnipeg and Fort William had to play through a semi-final. The Connaught Cup playdowns unfolded usually until a "Western" winner faced an "Eastern" winner in the national final. Starting in 1926, however, the national winner was awarded the new Challenge Trophy, donated by England's Football Association. Playdowns were started in 1940, but then suspended (along with the Dominion of Canada Football Association) because of the Second World War. / La finale de la coupe Connaught opposait habituellement un champion de l'Ouest à un champion de l'Est. The competition sometimes switched format, but most often played towards a national final between two teams. In 1962, only three teams were involved (with Scottish receiving a bye into the final); in 1963, there was no competition. In most years there were 7-10 teams in the playdowns, with Newfoundland Labrador having joined in 1967, New Brunswick having joined in 1969, and Prince Edward Island having joined in 1972. Northwest Territories joined in 1971, but would not return for another 40 years. In 1966 and 1970, the club competition was replaced by an Inter-Provincial tournament of select teams. In all years, the national winner was awarded the Challenge Trophy. / *Le tournoi change parfois de format, mais il est joué la plupart du temps vers une finale nationale entre deux équipes.
